

quinTTonic

The all female brass ensemble from Vienna consists of five ambitious, passionate musicians who have set themselves the goal of not only entertaining with their music but also to pause, reflect and to motivate the audience with their music, and at least for the duration of the concert, to create a distance from everyday life for them.

The specially conceived concert formats differ largely from those previously heard, so that both the acoustics of the venue's room and the respectively appropriate themes are fully integrated.

The five young musicians from quinTTonic, all of whom originate from various parts of Austria and Germany, and having already performed on stage together during their studies, thoroughly enjoy playing music together, as well as allowing the diverse audience to participate. Become an integral part of the performance yourself.
